Typography - Standard Usage

Description

The approved fonts for the 2007 Army Brand are divided into two categories, Header Fonts and Body Copy Fonts. Examples of both sets are displayed below:

Header Font

Helvetica Bold
Use for the main header treatment.

ABCDEFGHIJKLMNOPQRSTUVWXYZ
1234567890

Body Copy Font

Helvetica Regular
Use for body text, captions and cutlines.

1234567890

Font Size & Leading

The leading (space between lines of type) should always be 1 1/2 times larger than the body font size. The header font size should always be 1 3/4 times larger than the body font size. There must always be a space between the header and the beginning of the body text and between paragraphs.

Use this equation for determining font point size to leading size for all body copy:
! → body font size x 1.5 = leading

Use this equation for determining font point size of all headers:
! → body font size x 1.75 = header font size

> for example:
> 12 point type x 1.5 = 18 point leading
> 12 point type x 1.75 = 21 point header

Please use the equations above when determining the correct size conversions or you may refer to the size chart on the following page to determine the leading size and header size at a glance. This chart provides size conversions for leading and header sizes from 8 point to 36 point body type as well as a visual reference of how it should look.

Considerations

If you are working in an word processing application such as Microsoft Word® control of the leading is limited. In this case the auto settings may be used. If you are working in layout application such as Adobe InDesign® or QuarkXPress® please refer to the guidelines listed above.

Please pay careful attention to hyphenated words. Whenever possible break the word down to the next line. This will increase legibility and text flow. Appropriate space must be given around all text blocks.

AMERICA'S ARMY: THE STRENGTH OF THE NATION™

Our Values

"Our profession's ethic remains the foundation of trust which the American people place in their military" (Future of the Army Profession, Snider and Watkins, 2002). In turn, our Army Ethic rests on a bedrock of our seven Army Values; Loyalty, Duty, Respect, Selfless Service, Honor, Integrity, and Personal Courage. It is a unique collection, unlike any other organization's in the world, and reflects the high standards to which the entire Army adheres, regardless of its mission area.

The Army is undergoing a major transformation in the way it does business. Just as Army Values guide the thinking, behavior, and professional ethos of every warrior, so will those same values guide the actions of those who support and sustain them. The American people hold the entire Army to a higher standard, not just the front-line Warriors. The priorities we set, the efficiencies we gain, the continuous improvements we achieve, will be attained in keeping with our Army Values. This transformation brings with it many challenges to overcome. Still, we will continually measure ourselves, and our success by our adherence to those values.
